CAL

Born in Worcester and now based in Stourbridge in the West Midlands, Cal is a multimedia artist and writer who explores the everyday themes of the absurdity of our existence, the unjust nature of our political and social systems and our relationships with global war and conflict, repression and famine. Cal has dedicated his focus on bringing awareness, funding and resources to charities locally and in conflict effected countries. Cal's approach to Art is multifaceted creating works based within emotion and concept. Using paint, stone, wood, needlework and performance based public art works, Cal has worked as an exhibiting artist and commissioned artist for over twenty years. He has held the post of Vice Chairman and Fine Art Representative for Dudley Arts Council / Black Country Arts Council.

LITTLEHEATH BARN STUDIO

Littleheath Barn Studio is the perfect place to spend a creative day or two. They offer a wide range of fabric printing, dyeing and art textile workshops as well as ongoing courses and guest tutors. The studio is fully equipped for textile exploration, and we provide a relaxed and supportive environment, best of all you'll be accompanied by like-minded folk. Many of our regulars refer to the studio as their "happy place".

Littleheath Barn was formerly resident studio to award winning textile artist Ineke Berlyn. Ineke and her husband John converted the barn in 2008 and we are proud of the fact that it was Bromsgrove's first carbon negative building.

The studio remains a family business and is run by Ineke's daughter Liske Johnson (BA Hons Textile Design), with the support of our close family friend Claire Lundy (BA Hons Printed Textiles).

SUZANNE NICHOLL

Growing up in Pembrokeshire, Suzanne was profoundly affected by the wild open spaces and unharnessed weather that graces the West coast of Wales.

She worked in healthcare for over thirty years before beginning to paint, and after attending Malvern School of Art in 2019, she found a new passion, and career as a professional artist.

Taking Inspiration from artists such as Joan Eardley, Barbara Rae, Joan Mitchell and Odilon Redon, Suzanne creates expressive, bold and colourful paintings that relay her experience.

Working outside, Suzanne creates numerous studies that capture the full sense of the landscape. Back in her studio she combines memory, sketches and found objects to create a series of work, in oils, cold wax and mixed media.

Suzanne uses contrasting and gestural marks, texture and colour to create dynamic movement and energy in her paintings, to recreate their inspiration and connect with our own experiences.

Suzanne currently lives in Worcestershire, but returns 'home' to the energy of the wind and sea as often as she can.

PABLO DIABLO

Pablo Diablo, a talented street artist hailing from Birmingham, is renowned for his distinct sketchy style characterised by high contrasts. Following his studies in fine art in Worcester during the early 2000s, Pablo temporarily succumbed to the monotony of the 9-5 grind. However, he eventually rediscovered his passion for art, resurfacing with renewed vigour and a palette of vibrant paints.

Embracing boldness and contrast, Pablo Diablo embarked on a creative journey, crafting captivating pieces that juxtapose striking elements against vivid backgrounds. His artistic style has continually evolved and flourished over the years, with a notable focus on surreal animal representations that intertwine with themes of legend and mythology. This fusion of reality and fantasy brings forth artworks that transport viewers to captivating realms, inviting them to explore the depths of their imagination.

KAREN TAIT

Karen is a self taught abstract artist who has developed and explored the world of art since High School. She also enjoys candle making and has a passion for making silver jewellery.

Karen has always been encouraged to express her creativity & embrace the ability to be 'colourfully unique'. However until now she has lacked the confidence to pursue a career as an artist.

She enjoys painting outdoors, allowing the weather & environment to play their part in how the piece evolves. She loves the raw kaleidoscopic explosion of colour developing on a white canvas.

Karen's work explores the lines of nature and the colourful beauty & playfulness of flowers. With inspiration taken from childhood camping holidays, hikes in the Welsh mountains & walks in the flourishing countryside.

"I love to explore & work with a variety of mediums & textures to create fun, vibrant pieces that unleash a love of vibrancy, a joy for life, something to make you smile."

In painting Karen has discovered the ability to express the love she has for colour.

As layers of acrylic paint, oils, pastels, enamel, pencil markings & colourful forms take shape, the viewer is introduced to endless promises of joy, love and childhood happiness.

An uncomplicated & simplistic interpretation of nature in its flawless beauty.

"I like to think my art helps people believe tomorrow could be a better day."

Karen is excited to announce more of her paintings will be on show at the Jinney Ring restaurant from September 1st.

PAUL WHITEHOUSE

Paul Whitehouse, a proud resident of Bromsgrove, has led a remarkable life shaped by his career in the military and fire service. Having served in Belfast, his experiences have greatly influenced his work. Paul's journey with Primrose Hospice began as a patient, and he has since become an integral part of the organisation, running weekly art classes for patients.

Through these art classes, Paul provides a creative outlet for individuals living with life-limiting illnesses. The classes not only allow them to express their emotions but also foster a sense of community and camaraderie among participants who share similar experiences. By reducing isolation and creating a social space, Paul's art classes build friendships, forge bonds, and promote overall well-being.

Drawing inspiration from his own granddaughters, Paul has recently developed a keen interest in portraiture. Paul has kindly offered a personalised portrait from your very own photograph for the Art with Heart auction. This one-of-a-kind piece could serve as a truly special and unique gift, perfect for expressing love and appreciation to someone you cherish.

IAN RIDLEY

Ian is predominantly a landscape artist working in watercolours and acrylics with a particular passion for trees. He was a member of the prestigious Birmingham Watercolour Society for many years and has exhibited widely throughout the UK. His work is based on very loose washes and most of the time the composition is imaginative with little or no drawing. This particular approach has proved to be of interest to the many art societies where he has done demonstrations or run workshops throughout the midlands.

Ian will also be painting at the event, so come down and see how he creates his masterpieces.

JEFF ROWLAND

Known for his rain-soaked oil paintings during a career that spanned over 30 years, Jeff combined a romantic 1950s feel with his signature rain motif. The anonymous kissing couple in his artworks represents a feeling of togetherness. For Jeff, rain symbolised washing away history and starting afresh, marking the start of a new journey. His figures are deliberately unidentifiable so viewers can relate to them.

To create his pieces, Jeff took photographs for reference before sketching the characters in a book. He painted the scene without rain and then added the couple in, before painting on the rain with a dry DIY emulsion brush.

Jeff said: "I'm never happier than when I've got a paintbrush in my hand. Over the years, I have started to choose more intense colours to create a focal point – a refuge if you will – from the rain."
